Peer Review on Nathan

Nathan has been a good partner to work with. With someone that has so much on his plate outside of CodeStack, he is an individual who gets things done and I needed someone like that on a project like this. Working with Nathan was fun. We worked on the figma together and when we concluded what we wanted on our project, which wasn't hard because we agreed with most of everything that we personally wanted on the project, we started working away right at it. The figma took the longest but when it came to writing the code we got things done. I think the figma and our website is pretty spot on. Nathan organized the assets which I didn't even think of at first and he had the great idea of using a carousel for his images which is smart for the amount of screen area the website has. 10/10 partner. Will be looking forward to working with him some other time. Personally I think our project came out clean, I like it a lot. I just need to learn to implement more design into my html and css projects.
